

Individual Reflection

André Kejovaara

Week 3

What can I do to learn or understand better?

This week has been quite a lot of planning and setting up our work environment as well as figuring out user stories for our project. Next week will contain more coding, along with maybe some designing in how the actual site is going to look. Being active in the group progress and part take in discussions will help me to improve my learning and understanding.

How can I help someone else, or the entire team, to learn something new?

By being active in our group meetings and sharing my own knowledge and experience to the entire group, I can help the group move forward. I will also try to lift those who aren't as active in the group discussions (for whatever reason) by asking them questions and doing my part to make sure everyone gets a say. You never know if someone is too shy or afraid to speak sits on a golden idea or thought.

What is my contribution towards the team's use of Scrum?

I attended our first TA session on Monday where most of the group were gathered and we started our first sprint. I've been a part of discussions that concerned Scrum and how Scrum works.

What is my contribution towards the team's deliveries?

As stated before, I've been active in discussions with the team. I've also researched the ability to host the project on my company's server.
